

cultivation
CORRIDOR[®]

The science that feeds the world.

CONCENTRATION

A unique convergence of rich natural resources, world-class academics, profound agribusiness expertise and favorable economic conditions, the Cultivation Corridor in central Iowa is home to a potent concentration of agbioscience companies, each one enjoying the benefits of operating within the most productive bioeconomy in the nation.

Today, through dynamic public-private partnerships, cutting-edge research and capital investments, the Cultivation Corridor is attracting companies, talent and capital from across the globe in its mission to support and sustain the science that feeds the world.

Find out more at cultivationcorridor.org